WHEN DINNER COMES

One Ought to Have a Good Appetite.

A good appetite is the best sauce. It goes a long way toward helping in the digestive process, and that is absolutely essential to health and strength.

Many persons have found that Grape-Nuts food is not only nourishing but is a great appetizer, and children like the taste of it and grow strong and rosy from its use.

It is especially the food to make a weak stomach strong and create an appetite for dinner.

"I am 57 years old," writes a Tenn. grandmother, "and have had a weak stomach from childhood. By great care as to my diet I enjoyed a reasonable degree of health, but never found anything to equal Grape-Nuts as a standby.

"When I have no appetite for breakfast and just eat to keep up my strength, I take 4 teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts with good rich milk, and when dinner comes I am hungry. While if I go without any breakfast I never feel like eating dinner. Grape-Nuts for breakfast seems to make a healthy appetite for dinner.

"My little grandson was sick with stomach trouble during the past summer, and finally we put him on Grape-Nuts. Now he is growing plump and well. When asked if he wants his nurse or Grape-Nuts, he brightens up and points to the cupboard. He was no trouble to wean at all—thanks to Grape-Nuts."

GRIEVES FOR DEATH OF SON, INTOXICATED

Driven to drink it is said, as a means of consolation, Robert Varley, father of John Varley who was killed in the dredger explosion at Bordentown, was found on South Broad Street yesterday by Patrolman Silverstein. Varley has been grieving ever since the sad accident on the river. Yesterday he was notified to close up the affairs of his son's estate, and, it is stated, drank more than usual.

He explained to Judge Naar his troubles and the Court told him that drink was a poor excuse for him to use as a cure. He told Varley to straighten up and go to his home. He thanked the court and declared that he would take the advice.

SENT TO WORKHOUSE

William Wilson and William Welch were each sentenced to six months at the Workhouse by Judge Marshall in Mercer Court this morning. The former was charged with false pretense and the latter with petit larceny. The sentence of six months at the Workhouse imposed on Frank Riley was reconsidered and he was placed on probation and fined the costs.

MAN AND WOMAN HELD

Fred Swift of Hankinson Alley and Sarah Jones were both held on charges of assault and battery by Judge Naar in Central Police Court today under $500 bail each for the Grand Jury.

ADMITS PAY JUGGLING

Lorenzo M. McArdle, who was charged with raising the pay roll at the League Island Navy Yard, admitted his guilt yesterday before the government officials and voluntarily went back to Philadelphia to stand trial.

FOUND ILL AT HOME

A report has been made to the police that Joseph Andrea, of 24 Allen Street, is ill and in destitute circumstances. Patrolman Thomas McDonough notified City Physician Watts.

THE PAIN OF NEURALGIA

People think of neuralgia as a pain in the head or face but neuralgia may affect any nerve of the body. Different names are given to it when it affects certain nerves. Thus neuralgia of the sciatic nerve is called sciatica but the character of the pain and the nature of the disease is the same, the cause is the same and the remedy to be effective, must be the same.

The pain of neuralgia is caused by starved nerves. The blood, which normally carries nourishment to the nerves, for some reason no longer does so and the pain that you feel is the cry of the nerves for food. The reason why the blood fails to properly nourish the nerves is often because the blood itself is weak and thin.

Anemia, or thin blood, is the most common cause of neuralgia. Build up the thin blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and you are attacking neuralgia at its root. These tonic pills also have a peculiar and direct action on the nerves so that they are probably the very best possible remedy for the treatment of neuralgia.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Get a box today and write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free book, "Nervous Disorders, A Method of Home Treatment."—Advertisement.

MEANING OF WAR MOVES

BY J. W. T. MASON,

(Former European Manager of the United Press.)

NEW YORK, May 28.—The appointment of Admiral Sir Henry Jackson as first sea lord of the British Admiralty does not mean that there will be any essential change in England's naval policy. Admiral Jackson owes his position primarily to the fact that Lord Fisher resigned as first sea lord and committed the unpardonable sin of leaving the Admiralty in a rage before final action had been taken on his resignation. His passage emphasizes the sad lack of strength of will when combined with error of judgment. Lord Fisher, who is strictly subordinate to the civil head of the Admiralty, tried to make himself the Kitchener of the Navy.

Unfortunately for himself his supreme effort to dominate the navy came at the moment when Lord Kitchener's dictatorial authority at the war office was being overthrown. Having at last put Kitchener in his place, the British government had no intention of permitting Lord Fisher to become a new irresponsible and so he was not recalled.

Winston Churchill acted in quite the opposite manner to Lord Fisher, when the crisis between the civil and navy heads of the Admiralty arose. Instead of running off in a sulk, Churchill handed in his resignation and then remained at his post until his successor was chosen. He accepted without demur the position of the Chancellor of Duchess of Lancaster which is the least important position in the cabinet and concerns itself with the administration of certain Lancaster properties of the King.

The willingness of Churchill to accept loyally whatever position the government desired him to occupy will react in his favor. He has given a needed example of self-sacrifice. Churchill left the Admiralty discredited and under fire not only of public opinion but also of many members of Parliament of his own party. He has probably saved his political future by accepting the public humiliation of a reduction in rank loyally and without a suggestion of running away.

ALLIES CONTINUE DARDANELLES WAR

800 lives. The Admiralty investigation resulted in the finding that the Bulwark was shattered by an internal explosion, the nature of which was never made public.

The Princess Irene, a new 6,000-ton liner built for the Canadian Pacific Railway and almost immediately commandeered by the Government, had been in service as a mine layer and was at the Sheerness dockyards for repairs. Exactly how the explosion occurred may never be known. Not a man of the 300 or 400 thought to have been aboard escaped, the only survivors of the crew being three men who were ashore.

The liner disappeared in one vast roar of flame and smoke, according to Jack Hodges, who was returning to the ship in a small boat. When the smoke drifted away there was nothing in sight but a piece of the vessel's stack.

"There were a few seconds of dead silence," said Hodges. "Then things began spattering down into the water—bits of men's legs and arms and bodies, splinters of wood and steel. The debris came down so thick, I dodged back in the cabin."

Splinters of wreckage spread over a wide area in falling, some of them falling nine miles from Sheerness. A little girl, 4 years old, was hurled to the ground and killed while crossing the railway bridge over Port Victoria station. Crews of several vessels lying near the Princess Irene suffered severely from the concussion.

Another child, Hilda Boust, aged 9, was killed at Port Victoria. She was playing on the beach and was struck in the head by a flying piece of iron from the wrecked warship.

WRITES TRENTON MAN OF GERMAN CONDITION

Some interesting accounts of the effects of the war in Germany are told in a letter Peter Jaeger of 749 Centre Street, has just received from a relative in Seergemund, Germany. Food has become so scarce in some parts of Germany, he says, that the Government has taken the matter in charge and families are allowed only a half a loaf of bread a day. The government also opens all letters sent and received.

Two nephews of Mr. Jaeger were killed in France and he has a brother-in-law in Belgium. Mr. Jaeger resided in Germany 35 years and has lived here 22 years. His mother still lives in Seergemund.

The annual convention of the brotherhood will be held in Atlantic City the first week in July.

How to Beautify the Hair

A Simple and Inexpensive Home Method

The hair is like a flower—a little care and proper nourishment does wonders. Just as a plant without air and water withers and dies, so will the hair go if not given proper nourishment. The scalp must be perfectly healthy and free from dandruff, as the scalp is to the hair what good soil is to plants and flowers.

If your hair is not pretty; if it is losing color, too dry, matted, falling out, or if the scalp itches and burns, you can easily overcome all of these conditions by using Parisian Sage, which supplies every hair need. It soaks right into the hair roots, stimulating them and furnishing the nourishment that is needed for the hair to grow not only long and heavy, but fluffy, soft, lustrous and gloriously radiant.

You can get a bottle of this inexpensive, yet delightful and helpful hair tonic from Miller Drug Co., or any drug counter. Improvement begins with the first application. Besides stopping the scalp irritation it removes every bit of dandruff. The use of this unequaled tonic will surely give your hair new life and beauty.

PRESIDENT WANTS HELP FOR MEXICO

WASHINGTON, May 28. — At President Wilson's request, Miss Mabel Boardman, head of the American Red Cross, left with the chief executive today to sign, as the organization's honorary president, an appeal to the country for Mexican relief funds.

The Mexican situation is terrible, Miss Boardman said, but owing to the drain of the European war, the Red Cross is without money and can raise it only by popular subscription. Not only Red Cross but also State Department advices said the last Mexican crop is exhausted and the next one will not be available for four or five weeks.

Consul Hanna at Monterey has advised Miss Boardman, she stated, that great numbers of women and children literally are at the point of death from starvation and that conditions can be no worse in Belgium, Poland or any other part of Europe.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Administration circles were worried gravely over Mexico today. Conditions were growing worse steadily. Private advices told of famine everywhere outside of Vera Cruz. General Carranza seemed willing to send food to the capital, but the Zapatistas there had failed to provide clearance for it. General Villa has been appealed to but was too busy fighting to do much.

Anxiety was felt lest an armed posse from Valentine, Texas, would invade Mexico after the smugglers who killed several Americans in the Big Bend, Texas region.

REFUSE DELAY IN MEXICANS' DEATH

PHOENIX, ARIZ., May 28.—Five Mexicans sentenced to be hanged today, the first executions since Arizona became a state, had a remote chance for life.

The Board of Pardons met again this morning to consider Secretary of State Bryan's appeal in behalf of General Villa either for commutation or postponement.

The State Senate yesterday reproved Bryan for interference, and the people's expressed wish for capital punishment in the recent election further boded ill for the doomed men.

SUICIDE IN SUBWAY ALARMS TRAVELERS

NEW YORK, May 26.—"Billy" Durando, road house keeper, who for forty years had "had his hand in his pocket" to supply funds to all who asked, was unable to borrow a few dollars yesterday. He killed himself last night in a most spectacular manner in the Broadway subway station at 181st Street, causing a panic among passengers He shot himself as crowds were leaving the cars.

William P. Durando was perhaps the best known tavern keeper about New York. He had owned the Speedway Club, the Abbey Inn and the Yonkers Tavern. Among his friends were many men of wealth and prominence. At the top of his success he owned numerous trotting horses, and had been one of the leading figures on the Speedway.

MARKET DULL

There was little to say regarding the market this morning. London sent over an irregular price list that had little influence here. There was some selling by people that did not care to carry stocks over the holiday. This selling was absorbed and then the market became dull and remained so during the rest of the morning. There was some strength in Inter Met. issues. The motor stocks, such as Maxwell motors and Studebaker, were both up.
